$250,000,000 SEEN AS COST IN GREEK PLAN

Observers Say That Figure Necessary To Keep Country in Democratic Camp.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 1—Any [illegible] the United States to [illegible] British commitments [illegible] Greece may possibly [illegible] the expenditure of [illegible] this year to maintain [illegible] as a democratic [illegible]

[illegible] sources gave this [illegible] reporters today, basing [illegible] familiarity with details [illegible] new diplomatic crisis [illegible] by President Truman and Secretary of State Marshall with congressional leaders at a [illegible] White House conference Thursday.

These informants said no serious consideration has been given in discussions with Britain to the use of American troops to replace British security forces in Greece [illegible] stiffen the Greek government's hand against internal disorder and outside pressure from leftist guerrillas.

The British will be expected to maintain in Greece their reduced force of 10,000 or more troops should the United States decide to support that nation economically, informants said. British government sources have said Foreign Minister Bevin is planning to withdraw the remaining 10,000 British security troops within the next three months.

The United States already has given Greece nearly $400,000,000 directly or indirectly in all forms of post-war aid, including the American share of shipments by the United Nations relief and rehabilitation administration.

Legislators who talked it over with President Truman and Secretary of State Marshall at a Thursday White House conference remained uniformly silent, but other members said they want to know what the move will mean in terms of money and foreign policy.

Several said the issue is whether the United States intends to plunge further into Europe's turbulent political conflict between communism and other forms of government.

Desire for Stability

President Truman pointed up his nation's desire for stability abroad last night with a declaration that "it is essential to economic and political reconstruction overseas that a new food crisis be averted."

He said if this country continues the present rate of shipments it will meet by the end of April an export quota of 400,000,000 bushels of grain and flour originally set for the end of June.

But "the battle of food is by no means over," Mr. Truman said, declaring:

"We must go beyond our program and continue to ship as much grain in May and June as we can in the interest of world stability and freedom." Coal shipments also must continue, he said, even at the cost of "sacrifice and considerable effort on our part."

Based on Report

The President's announcement was based on a report from his cabinet committee on world food programs.

The future of the Greek government, as well as the present regime in Turkey, appeared at stake in reports that the British have informed this country they no longer can bear the financial burden of maintaining troops and relief organizations in Greece and aiding the Turks militarily.

Senator Taft of Ohio, chairman of the Republican policy committee, said he wants an official statement from the President or the state department on what commitments are involved before any attempt is made by this country to underwrite Britain financially in the Mediterranean area. "Any such decision would involve a tremendous change in policy and I would not like to say now how I stand on it until I have all of the facts," he said.

Due to the last minute rush in payments his office is three or four days behind in its postings, Treasurer Hinklin said, and during that period tax payments still will be received without penalty.

YOUTH GIVEN 1 TO 7 YEARS

Walker Must Serve Reformatory Term for Theft of $1,400 from Car.

Harold David Walker, 18, of 896 Kenton avenue, charged with the theft of $1,400 from a parked automobile here Nov. 5, was sentenced today to from one to seven years in the Ohio State reformatory at Mansfield.

CONFERENCE CALLED IN TEACHERS' STRIKE

By The Associated Press

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 1 — The president of the city board of education called today for an immediate conference of officials of the city, school department and Buffalo teachers federation in an effort to reach a settlement of the six-day old strike of 2,400 teachers.

In identical letters to Mayor Bernard J. Dowd, City Council President Kneeland B. Wilkes and Federation President Raymond J. Ast, Board President Charles J. McDonough said:

"Buffalo's educational crisis is now one week old. Settlement thereof seems no closer at hand than it was a week ago.

"In the hope that some solution may be worked out, I urge that an immediate conference be held between the mayor, president of the common council, representatives of the Buffalo teachers federation, the superintendent of schools and members of the board of education in the office of the mayor on Saturday, March 1, or Sunday, March 2, 1947, at such time as the mayor shall direct."

Meanwhile, the city's 2,400 striking teachers stood pat on their demand for an immediate salary increase in the face of the state administration's "back to work" call.

Early Monday morning he takes off for Mexico where he will spend three days.

Russians Say Lag in Output Of Coal Slowing Five-Year Plan

By The Associated Press

LONDON, March 1 — The Soviet council of ministers (cabinet) said today that a lag in Russian coal production was delaying the nation's economic development under the current five-year plan.

The council listed economic "shortcomings" of 1946 and "fundamental tasks" for 1947 in a decree broadcast by the Moscow radio to regional listening posts for publication throughout Russia. The Soviet Monitor picked up the broadcast here.

"The coal industry, * * * experiencing the greatest difficulties as a result of the consequences of the war, is lagging behind, thus holding up the development of other branches of heavy industry, railway transport and the whole national economy," said the Monitor's abstract of the decree.

Only yesterday, the Communist party's central committee in Moscow, urging a drive for more bread, indicated that Soviet grain production was so far below the pre-war level that at least three years would be needed to regain that level.

Consumer Goods Slow

Today's decree, as recorded by the Soviet monitor, said "resumption of the production of consumer goods is slower than warranted. The 1946 housing program is not fulfilled and this is causing a hold-up of labor productivity. * * *."

Listed as "seriously lagging behind" Russia's needs were electrical and agricultural engineering and the production of rails, rolling-stock wheels, pipes for the oil industry and equipment for the timber industry.

"Despite the fact that production of building materials increased in 1946," continued the report, "the increase, where development of the timber industry is concerned, does not meet the needs of the national economy."

Includes 4 Goals

The decree, the monitor said, included among 1947 goals:

(1) "An all-around rise in fuel-industry production—in the first place greater coal and oil output * * *."

(2) "Greater development of consumer-goods industries," including a 27 per cent production boost in the textile and other light industries.

(3) "The ending of backwardness in the mechanization of labor, particularly in the mining, building and timber industries and in loading and unloading work in transport."

(4) "Trade turnover, state and cooperative, to the sum of 325 billion rubles at current prices along with all-around development of state and cooperative trade as well as trade in the towns."

The official exchange rate is 5.3 rubles to the dollar; the diplomatic rate is 12 to the dollar.

The monitor's report gave no detailed production statistics.

16-YEAR-OLD SLAYER REQUESTS NEW TRIAL

By The Associated Press

YOUNGSTOWN, March 1—Motion for a new trial for Don Frohner, 16, sentenced to die in the electric chair for the murder of William C. Spieth, 52, of Ashtabula, was filed at noon today in Mahoning county common pleas court by Chester Beard, Frohner's attorney.

The motion also asks that the court set aside the death sentence.

A three-judge court set June 10 as Frohner's execution date as it returned its verdict yesterday, granting mercy to Arthur Chapman, also 16. The two high school youths pleaded guilty to the killing of Spieth, an Ashtabula machinery salesman, who was blackjacked and shot to death near here Jan. 13.

Sheriff Ralph E. Elser said he had no immediate plans for transferring the pair from county jail to the Ohio penitentiary. He is under instructions from the court to place them in the penitentiary within 30 days.

The youths confessed slaying Spieth in an attempt to steal his automobile and use it to kidnap a high school classmate for ransom. Both asked for mercy, but the judges voted unanimously for the death penalty in Frohner's case.

By granting mercy in Chapman's case, they made a life sentence mandatory.

25 TO TESTIFY IN COUNTERFEITING TILT

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, March 1—At least 25 more witnesses will testify before a federal grand jury investigating a black market traffic in counterfeit and stolen sugar stamps, Assistant Federal Prosecutor Raymond L. McClory said today.

The jury has returned 44 indictments and heard 120 witnesses since it convened in mid-February. The first indictments, returned Tuesday, included three Ohioans—Bloom Bruner of Mt. Vernon, a wholesale grocer, and Paul E. and George Mills, Newark truckers.

McClory yesterday announced the arrest of Leonard Levy, 26, a Chicago insurance agent, on a charge of possessing illegally 1,000 sugar ration stamps. Levy sold the stamps at an average of 60 cents each to a baker, McClory said.

For the month came roaring in today with a steady snowfall and the weatherman predicted it would continue tonight and Sunday. He also forecast continued cold.

Marion's official weather observer reported that one inch of snow fell between 8 a. m. and noon today. Temperature at noon was 21.

15 KILLED, 15 INJURED IN JERUSALEM BOMBING

STATE PHONE STRIKE SHAPES

Ohio-Wide Walkout Likely by April 1 Unless Negotiations Succeed.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, March 1—Threat of a statewide strike by members of the Ohio Federation of Telephone Workers (Ind.) faces the Ohio Bell Telephone Co., unless a current dispute involving union demands for $12 weekly wage increase and a closed shop is settled by April 1.

Federation President Robert G. Pollock reported the union wired Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach and the U. S. department of labor last night of its intent to strike, and added the OFTW would begin immediate strike balloting by its local chapters to determine support of the conditional action.

At Cincinnati, the Cincinnati Communications Workers union, an affiliate, with the Ohio federation, of the National Federation of Telephone Workers, also filed a strike notice against the Cincinnati and Suburban Bell Telephone Co., and the Consolidated Telephone Co. of Florence Ky.

Pollock said representatives of the federation and Ohio Bell had become "deadlocked" in negotiations since last Feb. 1 on the union's demands for the weekly wage increase" based upon the rise in the cost of living and the fact that telephone workers have lagged behind other employes in the country in obtaining deserved wage hikes."

The union official said the company had offered "zero" in the negotiations on a wage increase, but reported the federation would continue negotiating in an attempt to prevent a "statewide strike of our 10,000 workers, who are employed in every major Ohio city, and in many smaller communities."

"Strike" notices have been filed in 22 other states: They are: New York, New Jersey, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Missouri, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Texas, Pennsylvania, Minnesota, Colorado, Arizona, Idaho, Utah, Wyoming, New Mexico, Washington, Oregon, Nevada and California.

HOUSE TOLD IT CAN SETTLE LONG STRIKE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 1 — Leaders of the 10-month-old Allis-Chalmers strike at Milwaukee told the house labor committee today it could end the strike "within 24 hours" by recommending either arbitration or fact-finding.

Robert Buse, president of CIO Auto Workers Local No. 248, and Harold Christoffel, honorary president, declared the committee has such "power and prestige" that the company would feel compelled to accept.

In a joint statement prepared for the committee, they said the company's testimony before the house and senate labor groups that Local 248 is under "Communistic leadership" was a "smokescreen" to hide the management's "arrogant, arbitrary, and intransigeant attitude" in the strike.

The union statement was made public by the house labor committee under unusual circumstances.

It was prepared for R. J. Thomas, of Detroit, vice president of the auto workers, who expected to appear. But—committee employes told reporters—the committee had invited Buse and Christoffel and insisted on their appearance.

Therefore Thomas' name was scratched off the copies before they were distributed to the press, and the two Milwaukee men prepared to deliver the testimony instead. Their names were pasted on the cover of the statement.

Last Monday, five executives of the big farm machinery company told the house committee that "every officer of Local 248 is a member of the Communist party or a consistent party liner."

The union statement today said the Allis-Chalmers strikers would return to work immediately if the company would agree to have the dispute decided by an arbitration board, or investigated by a presidential fact-finding board.

500 Red Cross Drive Workers Take Field

Men and women in Marion city and county — turned salesmen for the next two weeks—braved the March lion today and began ringing doorbells in the residential district and opening doors in business and professional offices in the downtown section, the 1947 campaign to raise $27,060, Marion county's quota of the American Red Cross national goal of $60,000,000. The first report meeting will be Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. at campaign headquarters.

Workers in the residential district are headed by Mrs. John W. Dowler, chairman, Mrs. Harry V. Seiter and Mrs. Walter D. Moore, co-chairmen.

Today marked the opening of the annual campaign throughout the nation and the month of March has been designated as Red Cross month. While the entire month will be given to the campaign, the local chapter plans to complete its drive in two weeks, Clarence Shockney, campaign chairman, said.

Due to the fact that Marion stores were busy with Saturday morning shoppers and also that many business firms closed their doors at noon, the campaign in the business section will not get under way in "dead earnest" until Monday, the workers state.

Posters Go Up

The Junior Chamber of Commerce has assumed the job of soliciting the downtown apartment buildings. Posters in the windows of the downtown business section, Red Cross flags at the courthouse and posters at campaign headquarters at 193 East Center street, all serve as reminders that the 1947 drive is on.

Campaign headquarters will be open each day during the drive from 10 a. m. until 6 p. m. and throughout the noon hour, Staffed by members of the volunteer special services the headquarters are

Groom Killed in Stable Fire

12 Thoroughbreds Perish In Blaze Destroying 2 Hot Springs Buildings.

By The Associated Press

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., March 1 —A groom burned to death and a dozen thoroughbreds perished early today in a fire which destroyed two horse barns at the Oaklawn race track.

The man was tentatively identified as Junior Essley, about 21, of Hot Springs. The charred body was found in the end of a stable where the blaze was believed to have been started. The cause of the fire had not been determined.

Track officials announced today's races would be run as scheduled.

A check of all horses was being made to determine which had been destroyed. Dozens of the animals, routed by trainers from their stalls, were rounded up over an area of several miles.

Oaklawn is in the midst of its annual 30-day racing season, and approximately 700 horses were stabled in the area of the fire. Some of the horses were led to safety. Others broke loose. Several wandered into the downtown section of Hot Springs.

The two destroyed barns were in the center of the stable area. Two other barns were damaged.

Among the horses stabled in the the George McFarland stables in destroyed barns were those from Ohio. McFarland's groom, Estell Burgess, said the horses missing from that stable included Parchiple, Sly Manner, Jack Morley and Nogales.

Inco Bitt of the Jay Vee stables, owned by J. V. Lunsford of Dallas, was among those believed destroyed.

The origin of the fire, which started about 1 a. m., was not known. The flames were brought under control by Hot Springs firemen two hours after the start.

The Oaklawn season began Feb. 24.

JURY HOLDS PLANT DOESN'T OWE PORTAL

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, March 1—A federal jury held that the Electric Storage Battery Co. cannot be forced to pay plant guards portal-to-portal pay but Judge William H. Kirkpatrick was reviewing the findings today before passing final judgment.

The 95 guards had claimed $121,128 in portal pay contending they were required to report 30 minutes ahead of time to change clothes and punch the timeclock as the preceding shift was leaving.

The company said it issued no such order.

The jury of eight women and four men returned their verdict late last night after deliberating nine hours, holding the company acted in good faith in computing payment for hours worked.

Lewis H. Van Dusen Jr., attorney for the company, said that "in my opinion, the verdict is favorable to use. It is everything we hoped for."

M. Goldstein, counsel for Local 113 Battery, Workers Union (CIO), which represents the guards, said he would review the evidence and verdict before venturing an opinion.

By The Associated Press

The views of the Ohioans were included in a survey of college financial problems, by W. Emerson Reck, public relations director for Colgate university, Hamilton, N. Y., published in the magazine "School and Society."

Ohio colleges participating in the survey were Ohio State, Denison, Ohio Wesleyan, Toledo, Kent State, John Carroll, and Cincinnati universities and Wittenberg, Fenn and Marietta colleges.

BLAST WRECKS BRITISH CLUB FOR OFFICERS

24 Others Missing as Sabbath Stillness Broken by Terrorism.

By The Associated Press

JERUSALEM, March 1—A terrific Sabbath blast wrecked a three-story British officers' club in the heart of modern Jerusalem today and an official casualty list said 15 persons were killed, 15 were injured and 24 were missing.

Among the dead was a Jewish girl, employed as a receptionist at the club.

An officer at the scene said about 50 were believed to be in the building at the time, and "at least a dozen of them must have got it."

Twelve survivors were removed in ambulances within 20 minutes after the blast. Rescue crews clawed through the debris seeking the others.

An army officer said it would be "impossible even to estimate the dead and wounded in there."

Surround Club

An eyewitness said a number of armed men surrounded the three-story club a few minutes before the explosion and "began shooting at guards." Three of those killed were hit by gunfire. It was not immediately learned whether the bomb was carried into the building or hurled from a passing car.

The explosion, shattering the traditional quiet of the Sabbath, occurred as nearly 1,400 uncertified Jewish immigrants waited in three British ships off Haifa for a final court decision on whether they would be shipped to Cyprus and detention. The decision is expected Tuesday.

A police officer at the scene, on fashionable King George avenue, said "casualties must be heavy."

Ambulances whirred through the streets in activity reminiscent of the King David hotel explosion of last July, when more than 60 persons were killed.

Agency Windows Shattered

Windows in the Jewish Agency headquarters directly across the avenue were shattered and debris filled the streets.

Th club has living quarters for bachelor officers on three floors, with a bar, lounge and restaurant on the ground floor.

There were no accurate reports available immediately on the source of the bomb, but an eyewitness said "a number of armed men surrounded the building about five minutes before the explosion and began shooting at guards."

"The guards returned the fire," this witness said. "It is impossible to say immediately whether the bomb was carried into the building or hurled from a passing car."

Police immediately launched searches in several all-Jewish quarters of the city. All cars were brought to a standstill and searched.

Gunfire Splits Stillness

Gunfire split the traditional Sabbath stillness while British troops cordoned off the area and rescue crews began digging into the blackened rubble of the building.

Hastily organized military work crews quickly began clawing into the rubble to extricate those who might have survived.

A French newsman who lives in the area described the scene as "awful."

Sirens wailed throughout the city, and all traffic except that of the military was halted.

Never before in recent years has violence disturbed the Sabbath in the turbulent Holy Land.

The immigrants had been taken from the refugee ship Haim Arlosoroff, which still lay aground off suburban Bat Galim, near Haifa. The passengers were taken last night aboard three British transports—858 on the Ocean Vigor, 285 on the Empire Lifeguard, and 255 on the Empire Comfort. Twenty of the immigrants on the Ocean Vigor were stretcher cases.

DAILY LENTEN MEDITATIONS

IN THE CHRIST OF THE CROSS WE GLORY

Today's Text. "This same Jesus . . ." Acts 1 11.

(This is one of a Lenten season series of daily devotional meditations prepared for publication in the Star under sponsorship of the Marion County Ministerial association.)

OUR Lenten worship centers around the blessed Son of God, Jesus Christ the righteous. Glorious in praise, wonderful in power, infinite in love, and abounding in love, our wonderful Lord.

Yet we hear the angel's message to the men of Galilee: "This same Jesus . . ." Yes, the Christ of dark Gethsemane, groaning, praying and sweating as were great drops of blood He is the Christ of the base betrayal and false accusation. He it was that faced the mob in Pilate's judgment hall. His fair brow bore the cruel crown of thorns, His back the mark of the scourgers' lash. Yes, it was "This same Christ . . ."

See Him bearing His cross up Golgotha's rugged road, lo, He staggers and falls 'neath the load. There on the brow of Mt. Calvary in shame hung "This same Christ" Hear Him as He breathes, "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do." He, this same Jesus was bearing your sin and mine in that dark hour.

On to a borrowed tomb, to taste death, hell and the grave, for you and me, yet to His honor and glory, He arose, Hallelujah He arose!

Once and for all He settled man's redemption, and we, who today accept this same Jesus as our only Saviour, worship, honor and adore Him, yet realize as we pay homage to Him in His great glory, "this same Jesus . . ." is the Jesus of the dark hours and days of Redemption's Blessed Story.

Brush With Death To Be Related By Prospect Driver

A Prospect man, C. E. Almendinger, who is owner and operator of the Almendinger Chevrolet garage, will be heard Sunday over Station WLW on the program "Destination Unlimited" which is broadcast each Sunday at 12:30 p. m.

The program will be devoted to transportation of school children throughout the state and is one of the station's major dramatic broadcasts. It is a salute to all the bus drivers serving school children. The program this Sunday will be a story of a true incident which happened to Mr. Almendinger on Wednesday, Jan. 22, 1936. He has owned and driven buses for the Prospect school since 1923.

On that day, Mr. Almendinger narrowly escaped death when his school bus bogged in a snow drift one and one-half miles west of Prospect when he was near the end of his bus route after delivering all but two of the children. This day marked one of the few blizzards of Marion county's weather history that had the power to cause death quickly. Only the timely arrival of two of his garage employes, who became alarmed at his failure to return on time, saved him from severe exposure and possible death.

After finally delivering the two children to their home by shoveling a path up the lane, he started to make his way back to town on foot. Meanwhile, the two men who drove other Prospect buses owned by Mr. Almendinger had returned and upon discovering that he was not there set out to meet him. They came upon Almendinger just as he had fallen in the snow overcome by the cold. He suffered frozen ears and frostbitten fingers. The temperature during this period was 18 degrees below zero, the second lowest in Marion county history.

At the end of the Sunday program, Mr. Almendinger will be presented a scroll for outstanding service in the field of public transportation.

YOUR INCOME TAX

Your Exemptions

(This is the sixth of 12 stories explaining who has to do what about his income tax return).

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, March 1 — You'll save money by being careful about your exemptions in filing your 1946 income tax return.

You get a $500 exemption—which means $500 knocked off your total income before the tax is applied—for:

1. Yourself (always).
2. Your wife—if she had no income of her own or is filing a joint return with you.
3. Each dependent.

When a husband and wife file separate returns, he claims his own $500 exemption for himself. She claims her $500 for herself.

James Marlow

When a wife files a return and her husband had no income, she claims his $500 exemption in addition to her own.

(What the wives of enlisted men can do is explained in a later story on servicemen and veterans).

Any Close Relative

You can claim as a dependent any close relative—no matter how young or old—who received more than half his support from you in 1946 and had less than $500 income of his own.

A dependent—even though he earned money, if it was less than $500—doesn't have to file a return. And you don't have to report his income even if he turned it over to you.

You can't claim as a dependent anyone who had $500 or more income, even though he received more than half his support from you.

(Anyone with $500 or more income must file his own return and take his own $500 exemption for himself.)

Dependents Named

These people can be claimed as dependents:

Your child or grandchildren; a stepchild but not his children; a legally adopted child; a brother, sister, step-brother, step-sister, your parents, grandparents, or other ancestors; your step-father, step-mother; aunts, uncles, nieces, nephews; all related by blood; and your in-laws: father-mother-sister-brother-son-daughter - in - law.

You can claim as a dependent for the whole year a child born to you as late in 1946 as Dec. 31.

You can claim as a dependent for the whole year a dependent who died anytime in 1946, even as early as Jan. 1, 1946.

When you use the 1040 long form—which means working out your own tax—you must do a little arithmetic with each $500 exemption.

(All you do is subtract your total exemptions from your income before applying the tax to what's left of the income.

Details in Later Story

(How well you do it will be explained in detail in a later story on filling out the 1040 long form.)

But when you use form W-2, the withholding statement, or the 1040 short form you just list your exemptions without arithmetic.

With both those forms your tax is found in a tax table. The table makes allowance for each exemption of a person filing a return.

So, with them, you just look in the table for the tax according to your 1946 income and the number of your exemptions.

Here's an example of exemptions:

You, married, have two children. It cost you $1,200 each in 1946 to send those children through school.

They both worked after school. One earned $499, the other $500. Both turned their money over to you, to help pay their way.

Can't Claim One

You can't claim as an exemption the one who made $500, even though it cost you more than twice that much to send him through school.

He must file his own return—since he had $500 income—and claim his own $500 exemption for himself.

But you can claim a $500 exemption for the child who made $499, because it was under $500. Neither you nor he has to report the income.

So you can claim a $500 exemption for him, $500 for your wife, since she had no income, and $500 for yourself.

Last year taxpayers had to think, in making out their returns, of separate exemptions for the normal tax and the surtax.

There's been a change. This year, in figuring the tax on income, the normal tax and the surtax have been combined.

So now you think only of one $500 exemption; whether you can claim it and deduct it from your income before the income is taxed with the combined tax.

That's why, to make it easy on you, no distinction was made in this story between normal and surtax exemptions.

(Next: Watch your deductions.)

Bendix Flier Sets New Transcontinental Mark

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 1—Paul Mantz landed a P-51 Mustang fighter plane at LaGuardia field late yesterday to set a new non-stop transcontinental speed record for a single-engined, propeller type plane — the second mark made at the field the same day.

Mantz, 43-year-old veteran speed flyer, made the 2,446-mile flight from Burbank, Calif., in six hours, seven minutes and five seconds in the same plane in which he won the Bendix race from Burbank to Cleveland, last year.

White sidewall tires, as illustrated, will be supplied at extra cost as soon as available.

It's a picture in a lot of ways, this big-'n'-beautiful Buick —

The picture of things-to-come in automobile styling — long, follow-through fenders, sleek lines, broad and solid look.

The picture of dynamic action, with its bonnet jam-packed with Fireball power, equally ready, equally willing for creep-speed jaunt or quick-paced emergency call.

The picture of perfect poise — with plenty of roadweight for solidity — cushioned all around on soft coil springs for jarless ease.

The picture of precise and exacting manufacture, with engine tolerances often closer than in airplane practice — bodies floated on new Silent Zone mountings for tautness and quiet — everything from rear-axle strut rods to water pump seal all tidily buttoned up to give you the best to be had today.

You don't have to be told how eyes follow you when you're behind this wheel. You can sample for yourself the great ease of this gallant traveler, the comfort, the room, the thrill-of-a-lifetime lift that answers every nudge of your foot on the treadle.

You've probably even told yourself, "Well, someday..."

Why wait for someday — when that someday may have to be followed by more waiting between order and delivery?

Why not call your shots now — and make sure your future will be bright and happy?

We'll take your order any time — what's wrong with right now?

U. S. Operating Surplus Nearly Half Wiped Out

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 1—An operating surplus of $2,093,600,000 which the federal government had built up in the first eight months of this fiscal year was nearly half wiped out yesterday. The principal cause, treasury records showed, was a payment completing the $2,750,000,000 U. S. subscription to the international monetary fund. The payment also accounted primarily for a $1,810,600,000 rise in the national debt to a total of $261,530,900,000.

Still another effect was reflected in a reduction of the vast U. S. holdings of gold — comprising about half of the entire world's stock—by $678,100,000 to a total of $20,321,700,000. This is still $88,679,000 above a year ago, however, because trade exports have far exceeded imports and other countries have made up the balance partly by payments in gold.

New Policy Announced For Surplus Buyers

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, March 1—Veterans of World War II will need only their honorable discharge papers to qualify as purchasers of "set aside" items being sold by war assets administration, beginning next Monday.

The "set aside" items are those in short supply, and lists are made up monthly. The March list contains two dozen or more items, including machinists' tool kits, life rafts, cash registers, jeep trailers and small drill presses.

WAA announced it no longer would be necessary for veterans to be certified for the "set aside" list. Certification will continue to establish priorities on everything else sold by WAA.

Only Kidding

CRITICS of efforts to salvage a few billions from the presidential budget are more than ever anxious now to have it known they were only kidding. They never had any real objection to saving some money; they just doubted if the Republicans really meant what they said about it.

It's now evident the Republicans meant it. The new question is whether the money to be saved out of the presidential budget of 37½-billion dollars should be used to reduce taxes, the national debt, or perhaps to do both. There is still a difference of opinion about that.

Tax reduction would help taxpayers now; it would offset price inflation to some extent. Debt reduction, on the other hand, would help taxpayers later. Either way the taxpayers would win. That's what the skeptics overlooked when they concluded the public wouldn't be interested in budget-cutting; they forget that the public is composed of taxpayers.

Not in the Phone Book

WITH journalistic enterprise which often causes newspapermen to twitch galvanically on days when news is dull, a Columbus city editor decided to try to find the answer to the question the radio is interminably asking: "How're Things in Glocca Morra?"

So a call went through to the London operator on the trans-Atlantic circuit and she raised the Dublin operator, who canvassed Donny Cove, Killy Pegs, Kilderry and Dannemorroh, as well as a score of other places in County Kerry, County Cork and County Donegal. No sign of Glocca Morra at all, at all.

Glocca Morra can be found only on maps which also list Lyonesse, Poictesme, Cloud-Cuckooland and Cockaigne. Its inhabitants are lithe young men with rich tenor voices and colleens with eyes as blue as the summer skies over the Wicklow Hills. Its anthem is "The Rose of Tralee," which sounds best when played on the Harp That Once Through Tara's Halls.

A nebulous land, Glocca Morra is the product of a supposititious thoroughfare which is not listed on any of the maps of New York City, although that is where it is supposed to be. Its name is Tin Pan Alley. And the only place Glocca Morra can be found is in the Broadway show, "Finian's Rainbow."

For Amity Among Men

PEDESTRIANS now are starting the supreme test of their hardihood—the trial by slush. For the sake of amity among men, let motorists be watchful of them and solicitous of their welfare.

No motorists during the slush season should splash a lady standing at an intersection unless she is past middle age and laden with packages. Ladies past middle age and laden with packages expect nothing else, whereas ladies in and approaching middle age take it to heart when they get splattered with gutter guck; they feel they deserve a little consideration.

Nor should any motorist fail to splash a pedestrian caught between curbs, walking along the highway in the country, or standing close to an inky puddle for any reason whatever, especially if aforesaid pedestrians are attired in light-colored clothing. Any pedestrian worth his slush expects this. If motorists were to take things easy and show consideration, pedestrians would think that even the motorists couldn't be depended on any more. Scare 'em with the horn, men, then splash 'em when you see the whites of their eyes.

Orthodox Financier

THE irony of Lewis W. Douglas as United States ambassador to England will not be wasted on the English. Mr. Douglas is one of the country's most orthodox financiers, a Democrat who gagged on the New Deal and now is going to be set down in the midst of the British Labor party's far more advanced experiment in state capitalism.

On the other hand, the British may be flattered by the choice of one of America's ablest financial minds to represent this country at a time when American dollars are a key to British politics. It shows an awareness of reality that was not manifest while American dollars were in the exclusive charge of men who knew how to do only one thing with money—spend it. Mr. Douglas also understands how to invest it.

Cynicism vs. Economy

By RAYMOND MOLEY

G.O.P. Economy Drive Needs Public Support.

A SURVEY of opinion in congress makes it clear that the greatest enemy of economy is cynicism. Many Democrats express the private opinion that the Republican drive for a $4.5 billion or $6 billion slash from the President's budget will come to nothing. They say that, when the shooting is all over at the end of the session, the figure will not be much below the Truman estimate. The bold stroke of passing resolutions at this time will feed the interest of taxpayers at home, but later—in the final appropriations, including deficiency appropriations—the fat will be back in the budget.

It is hard to blame some of the Democrats who say this. They were nominally in control over the 14 years when, sending became a national habit. Not only did the Roosevelt administration spend with a lavish hand, but its economic experts offered suprious proof that thrift was an economic curse. And its political directors scattered dollars where they would blossom into votes.

It was difficult, if not impossible, for Demcrats in the senate and house to resist this onslaught. The attitude of the administration, spreading as it did the itch for federal help in every state and district, brought pressure from home against all members of congress. Squeezed between the administration and the money-hungry folks at home, it was a choice between giving or quitting public life. And most of them decided to give, salving their conscience with the thought that everybody was getting it anyhow.

Now these Democrats believe the Republicans will ultimately give, too. And, unless Republican congressmen get help and encouragement from economy-minded people at home, they will fail in their drive, despite their promises and their notable beginning.

Every state, district and community has its axe to grind. Community leaders, even Chambers of Commerce, all want something. They are for economy, but, they add, "we have been overlooked by the Roosevelt-Truman administrations. Let somebody else go without."

The most stimulating moment in the long senate debate on Monday was the contrast in the points of two senators from Washington. The Democrat, Warren G. Magnuson, argued for the great West and its states which need federal developments The four great and irreducible items in the budget, he said, are the armed services, the veterans, the interest on the debt and the needs of the West. The West must be served.

The freshmen Republican from Washington, Harry Cain, spoke on a different and refreshing note. "I lay particular stress," he said, "on the need for an equality of sacrifice because I'm a western senator and as such I have a greater selfish interest in continuing federal expenditures than most senators. The West is a going and a growing concern. Its destiny continues to be beyond the horizon

"Billions of dollars can be invested out there, and there will long be a need for billions more. Were I a senator only from my state of Washington, I might care little for the state of the Nation or for the rights and needs of others. I might only insists on getting more and more from the federal trough. But no senator belongs to his state or his section alone. He belongs to the Union as well, and for that Union of 48 states he must likewise, as for his own state, work and dream.

"If in being a senator from Washington state, I got for that state everything it wanted—but in getting things it could get along without at this time I helped . . . to bring financial ruin and a valueless dollar to the nation . . . I should have done my state no favor I should have betrayed my public trust."

This point of view takes the course of a beginner. Public support will keep Cain's idealism fresh and new. Will the public do its part?

The Stork Refuses To Deliver the Male

Crown Princess Juliana of Holland has given birth to her fourth daughter.

Who is this Eddie Cantor?

Juliana has taken away Snow White's theme-song, "Some Day My Prince Will Come."

This is an age of specialization and Juliana is going in for girls. But four princesses isn't so bad. Already they can get up a table of bridge without calling in a commoner.

And look at the saving on clothes. . . . or will the littlest princess rebel at ermine hand-me-downs?

Besides, if things get too tough in monarchial circles, they can always do a sister act in vaudeville.

Many had hoped the new arrival would be a boy so Holland one day could have a king. But any poker player can tell them that four queens are mighty hard to beat.

More U. S. Help for Britain

By WALTER LIPPMANN

A PAMPHLET of only about 36 pages has recently been published in Great Britain which poses concretely, and more poignantly than any other contemporary document, the problem of the preservation of freedom in our time. The pamphlet is the white paper presented by the prime minister to Parliament, and it is called simply "Economic Survey for 1947."

It is worth the most careful study in this country, not only because it states the hard facts which will compel us in the fairly near future to take extraordinary measures, but also because it discloses so many of the real issues underlying the ideological conflict throughout the world.

This pamphlet throws more light on the choices which men have to make than can be gotten from most of what is written about the theories of Communism on the one hand and of free enterprise on the other.

The broadest, and in many ways the most significant, conclusion which one may draw is that the basic problem of Britain—and of the European countries including Germany—is radically different both from the American and the Russian. The fundamental conditions being different from those in either of the two great ideological rivals, the British and the Europeans must take a different course.

The controlling difference is, as the white paper puts it for Britain, that "we have not enough resources to do all that we want to do. We have barely enough to do all that we must do. Whether we reckon on man power, coal, electricity, steel or national production as a whole, the conclusion is unavoidable."

What Britain must do is to export enough to pay for three-quarters of the food she must import, and of the raw materials she needs for herself and for the manufactures that she must export. The Canadian and American credits, and some invisible income, will for the next two or three years make up the other quarter.

How Much Freedom

The question is how much economic freedom — as we understood it—can a country in this position afford? It is evident at once that it cannot afford to allow the people freedom to buy abroad. It has to control and ration its imports; otherwise Britons will buy more than the nation has American and Canadian money to pay with, and individuals will buy goods which they would like to have rather than those goods which the whole nation most needs. The people of Britain cannot afford the freedom to import.

Only the absolute necessities can be imported. They will be scarce, the supply will be less than the demand. Therefore, the British cannot afford to allow themselves the freedom to consume—the freedom to buy as much of anything as they have British money to pay with. They have to ration themselves. Therefore, they cannot allow their producers and shopkeepers freedom to sell at a free market price. They have to fix prices.

They cannot allow themselves the freedom to invest their savings. For if they were allowed to invest freely, they would employ labor, coal, electricity, steel, transportation for things, however desirable in themselves, that might not be usable as exports to pay for the food and raw materials they must have to live at all. Instead of free enterprise, they are compelled by their poverty, to ration investment.

There remains the freedom to work, to choose a job voluntarily and to quit it for another, and even not to work at all while there are savings or some kind of income which a person can live on. This freedom—humanly the most important of all—the British are clinging to. The supreme question is whether they can feed themselves, maintain their position in the world, become financially solvent, and still preserve the freedom of labor.

Balanced Production

That is the question which this momentous white paper poses.

"Balanced national production requires a big increase in the labor force of some industries and limitation of the expansion of others. The need for more miners dominates the whole scene. Our food position depends upon more workers in agriculture. The housing program depends upon more workers in the building materials industries as well as upon timber. The clothing ration depends upon more workers in the cotton and woolen industries; the supply of cups and saucers upon more workers in the pottery industry. On the other hand, further expansion in the number of building workers or in the number of engineering workers would threaten to cause underemployment for lack of materials.

"Now that direction of labor has been abandoned, there is no single measure which the government can adopt to bring about these adjustments. The problem of certain undermanned industries can be greatly eased by the introduction of new machinery and by the provision of better emenities for the workers in them. As much as possible is being done on these lines. But these are for most part measures which cannot yield quick results."

It goes on to say that "the ideal distribution of man power would involve changes of such magnitude that it would be impossible to bring them about by any means short of complete wartime direction." That meant in Britain the compulsory regimentation of all labor—a measure which we never resorted to

It is difficult to see how the British people can meet their economic deficiencies and maintain the essentials of free labor—unless they receive more help from us than they have been promised.

This concretely is where, and this in fact is how, the issue is raised whether freedom can be preserved in a large part of the world where freedom, as we know it, originated, and is most at home.

Panic and Paralysis

By JOSEPH ALSOP

WASHINGTON, March 1—Something very close to panic is beginning to seep through the sectors of the administration most closely in touch with the foreign situation. The reason is simple. Progressive economic and political deterioration, such as was dramatically described in a report from Greece in this space two days ago, is becoming more and more widespread abroad. The tempo of deterioration has also increased abruptly, as a result of such unforeseen tragedies as the British coal crisis and the freezing of the French winter wheat in the ground.

An explosion at a key point like Athens (which the above-mention reporter indicated might occur in a matter of weeks) is now quite capable of setting off a series of explosions at other key points. The process might take a long time. But in the end, where the western nations once presented a fairly solid front to Soviet expansion, such a series of explosions would leave little better than a political vacuum.

The political deterioration going on abroad has its origin in poverty, hunger and devastation. Under Secretary of State Will Clayton gave half his time last week to telling congressional leaders about the $350,000,000 post-UNRRA emergency relief appropriation for Greece, Italy and other acute deficit areas. This country is morally committed to provide the money, and Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg has said as much on behalf of the Republicans. The proposed appropriation is a mere palliative drop in the bucket.

Contagion Spreads

Yet the Republican economizers gave Clayton such a hostile hearing that even the fate of the relief appropriation is doubtful. Meanwhile, the contagion is also spreading from Capitol Hill to governmental agencies like the Export-Import bank. William McChesney Martin Jr., and the other little men who compose the bank board are suffering from a severe attack of Republicanitis. They now obstruct most state department efforts to use bank funds in crises on the ground that bank loans must be "financially sound."

On the one hand, in short, there is American governmental paralysis. And on the other; there is a broad panorama of acute danger which should make it difficult for any American to sleep well at night.

An earlier report in this space from Ankara suggested that the Turkish government might soon be undermined by the economic strain of keeping 600,000,000 men under arms to counter Soviet pressure. Greece is in even more immediate danger, and from the same pressure. These are the keys to the Middle East. If either Greece or Turkey ever falls within the Soviet orbit, the British Middle Eastern position will become indefensible. In Britain, meanwhile, the coal crisis has glaringly revealed the probable inadequacy of the American loan to put the British economy on its feet. And the grinding misery of the people has provoked a great national debate over the wisdom of continuing the cruel struggle to act as a great power. If Britain ceases to be able to defend her Middle Eastern position, the debate will become almost academic; for the Middle East is an essential ingredient in Britain's larger position as a major power. Thus the temptation will eventually become almost irresistible for the British to withdraw from many of their costly overseas commitments — leaving nothing in their place.

Danger of Soviet Gain

In France and Italy, where the Communist parties are gaining strength, the repercussions of a great Soviet gain in the Middle East will also be impossible to calculate. And the same dangers repeat themselves elsewhere, monotonously, in almost the same pattern.

At the other extremity of the land mass of Europe and Asia, the process of deterioration is also working with frightening rapidity in China. Secretary of State George C. Marshall has promised energetic support to the national government if it puts its house in order. But with the exception of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, who is constitutionally reluctant to fire his old friends, no Chinese leader knows precisely what Secretary Marshall wants. The loyalty of the Chinese Air Force is dubious. The inflation is progressing at a fantastic rate. Despite strong pressure from Secretary Marshall, the Export-Import bank has managed to tie up the long-promised $500,000,000 American credit to China in a hopeless tangle of red tape. The American ambassador at Nanking, Dr. Leighton Stuart, is a worthy but elderly man, acknowledged by Secretary Marshall himself to be impotent to deal with so urgent a problem. And if no American help is forthcoming, the strongest man in the government, Dr. T. V. Soong, has already privately declared that he would abandon his thankless task in a few months. In this event, China will simply explode, just as Greece now threatens to do.

What needs to be done is fairly obvious. The World Bank must be revived from its present catalepsy. The board of the Export-Import bank must be taught a sharp lesson that its business is to serve American policy. Somewhere in the administration, authority to cope with all the related crisis and near-crisis overseas must be concentrated in a sort of politico-economic fire brigade.

Congress must be asked to provide this fire brigade with a very large sum of money, either as an addition to the Export - Import bank's diminished resources or in some other form. And with these funds we must first buy a little time and then join the World bank in the complex, long-range task of fundamental economic reconstruction.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Do You Dream in Technicolor?

England is reported in a dither over whether a man can dream in technicolor or whether dreams are limited to black and white. Psychiatrists disagree. Some say they always dream in technicolor. Others say they have always dreamt in black and white (or at least always thought so up to now).

Elmer Twitchell, asked about the matter today, said he had been having his dreams both ways lately. "I generally am a black and white dreamer," he said, "but a technicolor one is not uncommon. I always get a dream in technicolor after a liverwurst sandwich and a cold bottle of beer at midnight.

* * *

Elmer has submitted recent dreams to a noted psychiatrist with the following results:

DREAM I.

I am sitting in my pajamas reading back numbers of a magazine when suddenly a beautiful blond draws up in a chariot. It is a chariot of new design, with the horse under the rear seat. She taps me with a wand and I become a merchant prince. Here is where the technicolor comes in. I am a blue merchant prince with white polka dots. It seems she takes me for a ride through a chain of Hollywood restaurants but the chariot is too wide to get between all the tables. We abandon it, take the horse (a pink and yellow one) from under the seat and ride it tandem style. Everything goes fine until the horse decides it wants to play the snare drums in one of the restaurant orchestras. A hot argument, in old gold and purple, takes place between the blond and the horse. I champion the blond and am going good when my wife suddenly bursts into the dream in crimson and pale green. Then I wake up in black and blue.

Interpretation: You have been eating cucumbers again.

DREAM II.

I got to bed and begin counting sheep. Just after the 346th sheep hops over the fence, a large canary-egg blue fence, a man in spectacles leaps over. This goes on until I have counted 237 men in spectacles. It seems they are atomic bomb scientists. Now I count over 200 Kremlin agents as they jump over the fence followed by a thousand Pravda editorials. I wake up just as Stalin, Gromyko and Molotov take the fence, jet propelled, and with all the colors pretty well scrambled.

Interpretation: You have been reading the papers again Lay off for a while and get back to plain black and whiters without nuclear energy.

DREAM III

This is a beaut I dream I am driving a speedboat down a waterway engraved on a tropical hotel menu and I keep coming out on the inside of the menu between the shrimp salad and the consomme. The speedboat finally crashes into a crouton and I am thrown into the spring lamb with mint sauce where I am rescued by J. Edgar Hoover, Congressman Hoopledicker and Miss America for 1946. Everything is in technicolor except Hoopledicker. When I wake up I seem to be wearing a cerise nightgown, an olive brown silk hat and patent leather pumps with spurs

Interpretation They make the covers on those fashionable dining room menus too exotic. Try sleeping on your left side.

Men Only

By TRUMAN TWILL

Apropos of a recent column about women being naturally sloppy and only tidying themselves up, with the paid assistance of beauticians, to keep from getting the reputations of slatterns, a lady writes in to suggest—tartly—that Truman Twill tell how well-groomed men would be if there were no women around.

We are glad you made the suggestion, lady All we know about ladies is what we hear and can observe, but on the matter of how well-groomed men would be if there were no women around we are an authority. We have been a man in the wilds of Canada with no women around, and we have lived with other men in the wilds of Canada with no women around.

We'll never forget the fellow who insisted he had to have a bath. He built a big fire in the cook stove and heated water in all the containers he could find. He must have had maybe two-three gallons of hot water. The trouble was, it was soft water. The more he washed, the more he lathered. There was soap suds all over the cabin. No one else was foolish enough to take a bath,-or even to talk about it after that.

Another time, a fellow got to feeling prissy and decided to shave. Through an oversight, he hadn't brought any razor. He rowed a couple of miles to borrow a razor. He began to shave. This writer held the lamp so the sissy could see his face in the cracked mirror. When he had hacked everything off one side and was bleeding in a dozen places he lost his courage. The razor was too dull, he said, and he let the whiskers stay on the other side. Went all the way home that year with a full beard on one side, only a stubble on the other. It was a lesson to him.

We remember the fellow who took along a tooth brush. He was ashamed to take it out. Figured he'd lose face, and the natives would think that all Americans used tooth brushes and that would be bad for international relations Only time he ever used it was after dark, and then he'd sneak off into the blackness and scour his pearlies in the lake by the light of the moon.

We know of a fellow whose wife insisted he take along an extra shirt on one of those trips when no women were going to be around. To keep peace in the family he took it along, then he began to worry about explaining why it never had been worn. He finally lent it to another fellow who'd been caught in a storm. Considered it a favor if this fellow would get it real dirty.

We'd like to know, lady, what would happen if a bunch of you girls went to stay in the wilds, with no men around. Ugh!

The First Printed Bible

Johann Gutenberg printed the first Bible at Mainz, Germany, between 1450-56. The Bible was in Latin, being printed from a contemporary manuscript of the Vulgate. There are between forty or fifty copies of this Bible in existence. One copy is owned by the Congressional Library, Washington, D. C. This is said to be one of three perfect copies and one of several printed on vellum. The cost of this Bible was nearly $400,000.

Undesirability of the Cross

A SERMONETTE

By REV. E. H. WIERTH

Pastor of First Evangelical and Reformed Church

Text: "Mark 14:50, "And they all forsook Him, and fled."

THE symbol of Lent is the cross. These days we are beginning to sing again the grand old song, "In the Cross of Christ I Glory." And as you know, the united church-going effort has taken this song, changed its phraseology, and in using it as a slogan. They say, "In the Christ of the Cross We Glory." This is probably a better rendering of the thought of Lent than is the original phrase. For truly what we glory in is not so much the cross as it is the Christ of the Cross. He through His cross becomes our saviour.

True! we do glory in the Christ of the Cross. The first word of Lent, strangely enough, is not, as so commonly supposed, contrition, but invitation. It is not a word of judgment but of grace. In many of our churches the scripture read for Ash Wednesday was taken from Joel, the second chapter, verses 12 to 19. The first of these verses says: "Therefore also now, saith the Lord, turn ye even unto me with all your heart."

In our emphasis of Lent we easily miss this word of invitation. We think of Lent as a dreary expanse of days when we are called upon to deny ourselves joys which are perfectly legitimate at other times and to submit to duties which are irksome at best.

Yet, if we are at all discerning then there must be at the very outset of this sacred season a sense of dawning wonder and amazement that can only lead to praise and thanksgiving. It will be one of glorying in the Christ. For the emphasis here is not first of all on what we should do, but on what God has, through this Christ, done for us. The holy God, who has reason to be justly displeased with us for our sins, is already turned to us in gracious invitation: "Turn ye even unto me with your whole heart." In Christ there is room for glorying. He is the completeness of our incompleteness, the perfection of our imperfection. The Heidelberg Catechism says: "As I now feel in my heart the beginnings of eternal life, I shall hereafter possess such complete bliss as eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither hath it entered into the heart of man." True! we glory in the unspeakable riches of the Christ of the cross.

NEVERTHELESS it is a man on a CROSS that we are talking about. And crosses are never attractive. They are always repungent, repelling affairs. He who thinks otherwise has never been within many a sea mile of any kind of a cross. Indeed so unwelcome are crosses that we are forever trying to delete them from life as though they had no place there. We take pride, to be sure, in having them on our churches, but we do not want them in our hearts.

An old Russian priest once became very discouraged with his congregation, they were such an easygoing lot of people. So one day he climbed to the top of his church over which there was a magnificent cross and with the help of his assistant took it down.

When the parishioners found out what he had done they insisted that he put it back up again. This he did, but after doing so he nailed two bars diagonally across it. Since they had cancelled it out of their lives he would cancel it off their church.

But that is exactly what we are always trying to do. People flock to church on Easter Sunday in droves. Many of these people have not been to church all year before but now they are there. Why? Because Easter is the day of life, the day of resurrection and there is no cross in the resurrection. Human nature wants the rescurrection without the cross. Nevertheless there will be no resurrection for any one without the cross.

It was so with Jesus. Even though facing it in the Garden of Gethsemane, his sweat became as huge drops of blood, nevertheless he had to go that way.

The cross is most undesirable. We ought not therefore to sing so glibly, "In the Cross of Christ I Glory." We do not, in this sense, glory in the Cross of Christ. Witness even those near disciples of Jesus, how, when he had to face the cross they all to the last man deserted him. We too, are more apt to be deserters in the face of the cross than we are to glory in it.

Pastor Niemueller said to the pastors at the Ohio Pastors' convention in February that had there been just 40,000 people to oppose Hitler he would not have succeeded. For lack of 40,000 witnesses Hitler and his henchmen burned up Germany and set the whole world aflame. The cross is most undesirable. People simply do not want to stick their necks out. They are always trying to save their skins. (As though they could).

Dr. Charles R. Bell Jr. a Baptist minister of Wisconsin, chairman of the campaign to prevent the use of public funds for parochial schools, says in this week's issue of The Christian Century, that one of the lessons learned out of the campaign, was "that the secular press can not be counted upon to fight for religious liberty where that means speaking out against the Roman Catholic church. The fight would have been lost if it had been left to the secular press alone. And that there were only two newspapers in the entire state which spoke out editorially against this effort to use public funds in support of parochial schools." The point is the utter unwillingness of people to altruistically bear a cross.

THE Cross is most undesirable. None of us ought to glibly sing, "In the Cross of Christ I Glory." To be sure, when we do we are thinking of the glory our head Christ will bring to us. But there will be no such glory unless we too, voluntarily go by way of the cross. A better son to have in the the background of all our thinking is:

"I must needs go home by the way of the cross.
There's no other way but
this;
I shall ne'er get sight of those
gates of light,
If the way of the cross I
miss.

What God first takes upon himself he lays upon the hearts of his followers. We know that God has taken upon himself the cross for our redemption. Now He says, "He would be my disciple must deny himself, take up his cross and follow me."

So, we are once again in this holy season of Lent when we look upon the passion of our Lord. May we be humbled beyond all measure by what we see. For in the cross of Christ we see what man will do, what man will not do, and what God, through Christ has done for us. Thus may we, falteringly to be sure, take upon ourselves our cross by standing for some of those unpopular causes which alone make for the progress of mankind but which almost always get their early advocates crucified.

We don't like the way of the cross, but it is the only assurance that we are truly followers of the crucified and thus sharers with him in the glory of the resurrection.

"The way of the cross leads home.
There's no other way but
this;
I shall ne'er get sight of the gates of light
If the way of the cross I
miss."

Chuch Loyalty Crusade To Open at Calvary

A Church Loyalty crusade will be opened by Calvary Evangelical United Brethren church tomorrow under a plan which gives authorization to promote a Calvary's Loyal Legion organization within the church constituency. The C. L. L. will be made up of persons who become members of the new group by virtue of attending all worship and midweek services of the church. Launching of the campaign will be tomorrow at 10:30 a. m. at a Lenten rally of the church.

Recognition of 100 per cent attendance will be given by printing names on the church's honor roll. Roll call will be March 30 at 7:30 p. m., by Sunday school classes. Members who do not miss a public worship or a prayer service during March will be placed on an Easter Sunday C. L. L. honor roll. Three months of 100 per cent attendance will entitle the one making that record to a C. L. L. pin.

The church is cooperating in the March to Church in March program sponsored by the Marion Kiwanis club and in the United Lenten Evangelism crusade of the Ohio conference of the Evangelical United Brethren church.

Doing Your Own Painting? An Expert Gives Some Instructions

YOUR HOME TODAY and TOMORROW

by W. Wadsworth Wood

The United States national bureau of standards tells us that over 700 million dollars worth of paints and varnishes are bought every year in this country, and that a large percentage of it is used on the interiors of structures. The small homes of the nation consume much of it in an endeavor to obtain pleasing effects, better lighting by reflection, or other special needs. Unfortunately, people buy paint without any particular knowledge of the subject, and without any information as to the effects and values to be obtained by the use of certain types or grades. The following condensed data explains what certain types of paint will do, and to what kind of surface they should be applied.

Interior paints: Wall primers are intended to be applied directly to bare plaster, wallboard, or other porous surfaces, so as to furnish a non-absorbing background for the finish coating. One Coat-Flats: are intended to accomplish priming, sealing, and coating finish in one operation. Flat, Semi-gloss and Gloss Paints are intended for use in the degree required for certain effects or finishes; in short a coat of flat followed by a coat of gloss will present a good solid job. Two of flat and one of semi-gloss or gloss, a better job.

Water paints: These have been developed to a high degree of satisfaction, and may successfully be used over wallpaper providing the paper contains no dyes which are solvent in water and which will bleed through. There is a water paint available for almost all interior work, but the homeowner must explain his requirements to the dealer, purchase the right type and stick to the directions.

Guide for Amateurs

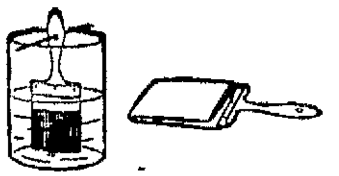
The cardinal rules covering painting by the amateur are, first—a clean dry surface; second—the correct type of paint; third—close attention to the directions printed on every can of paint which is sold for use by the homeowner; fourth—the use of the proper size and quality of brush.

All reputable manufacturers of paint spend fortunes on experiment and test. They make the best product possible, and they know how it should be applied, so follow the advice of experts.

When it comes to brushes, common sense is your guide. If you are about to spread an expensive enamel on woodwork, there is no sense in using an inferior brush with bustles like a whiskbroom, that will leave deep grooves and draw-lines on the work. Far better to spend an extra 75 cents and buy a decent brush which will work the enamel properly and which can be cleaned and reused a hundred times.

Correct Care of Brushes

A good brush improves with age and with use, if it is properly cared for. It is not enough to place the brush in a can of linseed oil or turpentine to keep it soft, because the brustles will gradually take on a curve when it is allowed to rest on the bottom of the can. The brush should be hung as illustrated, so that the bristles will remain straight. If the periods between use are short, the brush should be dipped in linseed oil, paper folded around it as shown, and laid down flat



Painting is a trade, exactly the same as plumbing, heating, roofing or brick-laying, and it is probably the only trade which the amateur can come close to duplicating in professional quality. A bit of serious study of the surface to be painted, plus proper material and procedure, will enable any homeowner to turn out a very respectable paint job.

FIRST AID TO AILING HOUSE

—By ROGER C. WHITMAN—

Storm Sash Steam and Freeze

Q.: Six years ago we remodeled our home, had all new windows and storm sash put in. Every winter the inside of the storm windows steams up and freezes. How can I prevent this?

A.: The air of your house may be overly moist, also the inside windows may not fit snugly enough to prevent the seepage of the moist, warm air of the rooms out around the windows. This warm air condenses and freezes on the cold storm sash. It should help to put weatherstripping on the inside windows. In the meantime, open the storm sash occasionally for short periods to let them dry off.

Damage from Calcium Chloride

Q.: Two months ago I stored some calcium chloride in the attic. It was placed in a pail, but the sack it was in tipped over and it melted between the walls, staining the wallpaper in the room below. It is still wet. Will you please tell me how I can dry the paper?

A.: Calcium chloride has the property of absorbing the moisture out of the air, and I am afraid your wallpaper would be difficult to dry out. To make your wall dry again the entire area that is stained, including plaster and lath, should be removed well beyond the stained part. It might also be advisable to cut out the part of the attic flooring where the chemical had been standing, and replace with new lumber. No trace of the chemical should be allowed to remain. After replastering the wall, two months should pass before repapering. This is to give the new plaster plenty of time to dry out. Fresh plaster cannot be papered successfully.

Prayer was given and the study topic presented by the pastor, Rev. Wilbur R. Budke. Plans were made for a banquet April 13 in honor of the service men of the church. Guests were Mr. and Mrs Merle Lust and son and Mrs George Leffler.

KENTON POLICE BURN GAMBLING EQUIPMENT

Special to The Star

KENTON, March 1 — No fire alarms were sounded in Kenton Thursday afternoon even though flames and smoke destroyed several hundreds of dollars worth of equipment along the banks of the Scioto river in the southern section of the community.

The "equipment" included an assortment of gambling devices which had been held by Kenton police following a raid last year.

Ordered burned Thursday, the two truckloads of tables, numbers jars, cards and poker chips "went up in smoke" under the supervision of the Service Director Carl Gardner, Chief of Police Clarence Sheldon and Mayor Leroy Hoppe stood by to witness the affair.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Treatment of Allergy

THE combating of allergies is one of the major problems of modern medicine. The more we study the puzzling fact that substances which are harmless to the vast majority may bring about diseased conditions in the few, the more certain we become that this peculiar, individual over-sensitiveness is at the bottom of far more disorders than hay fever, hives and asthma.

Recent investigation of the whole subject has given us at least a clue as to how allergy does its harmful work. There is a chemical in the body which is called histamine and it is thought that the substance to which the allergic patient is sensitive causes excessive amounts of this chemical to be formed and released into the body tissues.

Recently, a number of new drugs which seem to counteract or prevent the action of histamine have been discovered. One of these is called pyribenzamine. A study of its effects on 277 patients reveals that relief of symptoms occurred within 15 to 20 minutes after the drug was taken and that this relief lasted from four to six hours.

Of 140 patients who had hay fever, 85 per cent obtained relief from their symptoms. Of 15 patients with acute hives, all but one were notably relieved. Of 44 with chronic hives, two out of three were greatly improved.

Treatment of Asthma

The results of treatment of asthma were not as satisfactory as those for hay fever but about half of the patients noted definite relief from their symptoms. When the pyribenzamine was given with another preparation known as ephedrine sulfate more notable improvement in the treatment of asthma was obtained.

Pyribenzamine has also been tried in the treatment of poison ivy and it seems that it is helpful in relieving the itching.

Pyribenzamine is given by mouth four times a day, preferably after meals. It is not recommended that the drug be given by injection under the skin or into a muscle nor should it be used by injection into a vein since it seems to cause some lowering of the blood pressure.

Reactions to this preparation are rarely severe. The larger the dose employed the more frequently these reactions occur. They may consist of such things as drowsiness, dizziness, faintness, sickness to the stomach and vomiting. Nevertheless, the preparation can apparently be used over long periods of time without any lasting ill effects. Further studies on this preparation are needed, however, before we can determine just how helpful it will be to the many different types of allergic sufferers.

The drug also gives only temporary relief and does not cure the hypersensitivity. Therefore it is only smart to continue searching for the cause, under a doctor's supervision, and eliminate it if possible, or build up a resistance to it.

The phrase "seven seas" was used by the ancient Hindus, Chinese, Persians and Romans—and in each case referred to different bodies of water.

5 HOUSING UNITS TO BE READY SOON

Plumbing Supplies Found for Some; Painters Needed.

Five living units at the veterans housing project near Lincoln park may be finished by Thursday next week, Clinton Taylor, contractor's representative, said today.

Enough plumbing fittings to complete 10 of the units have been received and if painters can be obtained five of the units should be ready by Thursday, he indicated.

Ten of the units may be completed and ready for occupancy by Monday, March 10, dependent upon painters, he said.

Work on the remainder of the 50 projected dwelling units still depends on procurement of plumbing supplies, Mr Taylor said, declining to predict when they would be finished.

More than 1,800,000,000 pounds of corn syrup were used in the United States in 1945.

705 PRESENT FOR REVIVAL

Delegations from Other Counties Swell Dr. Rice's Congregation.

Attendance of groups from several towns brought the total number present at the Dr. John R. Rice union evangelistic campaign here last night to 705. A special guest was Mrs. Rice, and present also was Rev. Wayne P. Ballard of Garrardsfort, Pa., an evangelist who works in campaigns with Dr. Harry Clarke, song leader for the meetings here. A flower was presented each person present who brought a guest. Towns represented at the service included Lima, Kenton, Bellefontaine, Dunkirk, Bucyrus, Wharton and Hepburn.

Dr. Rice used as his sermon subject, "The Last Judgement of the Unsaved Dead." Rev. L. V. Bauguess offered prayer, offering was in charge of Rev. R. W. Faulkner, and Dr. Clarke sang a solo. Mrs. Wesley Chatfield and Mrs. J. W. Baker were the pianists. It was announced that Sunday at 2:30 p. m. Dr. Rice will preach at The Star auditorium on "Church Members in Marion Who Make God Sick," and Sunday at 7:45, "When God's Patience Wears Out." Tonight his subject will be "All Satan's Apples Have Worms."

His sermon last night was based on the twentieth chapter of Revelation. He spoke on the "two resurrections," pointing out that "There will be a judgement on earth for the people living when Christ returns. After the Christians have been raised in the first resurrection and have reigned with Christ a thousand years, then is the resurrection of the unsaved dead for the final judgment. Nobody judged in this judgment will go to Heaven. There has got to be a difference in punishment in hell. God has record books. A lot of people think salvation is according to works, but it is damnation according to works. The last judgment has no salvation in it, nothing about the blood in it. The sins nobody else knows about are coming to judgment then." Five responded to the altar call.

CHINESE PREMIER QUITS; CHIANG TAKES OVER POST

T. V. Soong Resigns in Move Seen as Cabinet Revamping.

By The Associated Press

NANKING, March 1 — China's supreme national defense council today approved the resignation of Premier T. V. Soong and named Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek as concurrent president of the executive yuan pending appointment of a new premier.

Soong resigned dramatically today, stirring speculation that Chiang might revamp his whole cabinet and bring in minority party members for the first time.

Soong, criticized by political foes for his handling of China's financial crisis, made his announcement before a critical legislative yuan (council) which had summoned him to defend his fiscal policies.

Before stepping aside, Soong, who is the Generalissimo's brother-in-law, declared the Communists, by destroying communications, were responsible for the chaotic state of China's economy.

Brannaman of Denver, Colo., senior vice commander-in-chief will be a guest, at a meeting of Veterans Post No. 3313, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Wednesday night. Plans were made to take part in the joint installation of newly-elected post officers in the district during the Sunday conference session. Charles Briner, senior vice commander, was in charge of the meeting in the absence of Commander Stanley C. Wormell, who was ill. H. A. Stotler of Ashland, district inspector, conducted an inspection of the post.

Frank J. Howard of the Tenth District, and several members of the Bucyrus post were guests. Mr. Howard gave a talk on legislation of interest to the veterans of World War II. A report was made on a meeting held recently regarding observance of holidays, and also on the progress of the new club quarters. Plans were discussed for activities to be held in the new quarters prior to the formal opening. David W. Owens, a past commander, was named chairman for the annual observance of Buddy Poppy day.

It was reported that L. W. Miller, a patient in Crile hospital at Cleveland, would probably remain there for two or three weeks. Nomination of officers will be held at the next meeting March 12 to be followed by election at the last meeting in March.

Palm Beachcombers Down to Last Railroad Car

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer

Hal Boyle

PALM BEACH, Fla., March 1—For perhaps the first time since this Gold Coast resort was founded only one winter resident rode to Palm Beach this year in his own private railroad car.

Several arrived in rented railroad cars, a sad commentary on the compromises that evil income taxes have forced upon the rich. In the old days you either wheeled up in your own chummy modified Pullman or else you jolly well slunk down to Miami Beach where you belonged. None of these drive-it-yourself made-over coach cars when society was relly society.

The sole arrival on the grand scale was springhtly Robert R. Young, president of the Chesapeake and Ohio line, who is currently cutting as wide a swath through Palm Beach society as he does in railroad financing.

Social Lions Vary

Social lions here vary with the times. One season grande dames may vie in exhibiting White Russian princes reduced to peddling the last rhinestone they borrowed from the late Czar. A decade later two-headed Austrian princes may be all the vogue. This season visiting English aristocrats were in fashion.

"It's been quite a British year—just lousy with titles," said one observer versed in Palm Beach lore. "They've been all over the place."

Young sifted through the first mad rush of shivering monocled fugitives from the British labor government and nailed as his house guests the Duke and Duchess of Windsor.

That "this railroad fellow"—a comparative parvenu—should reel in the season's prize social catches is just another indication of how society here is changing. It was one more blow to the old guard.

No Social Dictator

Since the prime of stately Mrs. Edward Stotesbury, Palm Beach has had no real social dictator and the grand balls and fetes of a more formal generation have become less important.

The resort is in a state of genteel flux. With the movement toward smaller houses many wealthy residents sold their private railroad cars during the war and bought private planes. Many also moved out to small exclusive nearby resorts like Hobe Sound, thus further de-centralizing high society.

"These people just want to live quiet lives and go around to each other's houses," one lady told me. "One change that has taken place here is the increased society interest in culture—in art, lectures and musical events. They do something besides going to cocktail parties and dinners."

Seek New Boredom

Whether this cultural cheerleading is a sign of health or postwar desperation on the part of the upper classes I cannot say. They are seeking something to replace the old ordered boredom of the halycon days of society, when those who belonged could put themselves to sleep clipping bond coupons instead of counting sheep.

Some residents see a further decadence of Palm Beach society in the success of a public night club that opened this season. Night clubs, they used to think here, were for Miami Beach people who didn't know how to entertain well in their own homes.

Sorely mourned by the old guard is the dominant figure of Col. Edward R. Bradley, the millionaire sportsman, and the famous Beach club that lapsed with his death.

"Palm Beach misses Col. Bradley and, quite frankly, it misses a first class gambling joint," I was told. "The Beach club had the best food and gambling in the world. Its closing took a lot out of Palm Beach life."

Its days of social dominion may be passing with the growth of a more flexible and wider ranging American social life, but Palm Beach still bears the stamp of dignity and elegance that made it famous. It has a quality of rich simplicity that sets it apart from more strident resorts. Palm Beach achieves glamor without clamor.

Illinois Family Shares Small Shack with Horse

By The Associated Press

FREEPORT, Ill., March 1 — A Freeport woman, who with her husband and their two children live in a small shack which also houses a horse, has written President Truman telling him of her family's living conditions, a federal house expediter disclosed today.

Homer T. Sowls, Rockford, Ill., federal housing expediter, said that the letter written by Mrs. LeRoy Schlegel to Mr. Truman was sent to him and he was ordered to investigate the condition.

Sowls said Mr. and Mrs. Schlegel and their two children, a 16-year-old girl and a 15-year-old boy lived in a 20-by-20 foot shack." And a horse was sheltered under the same roof. Only a partition "with cracks in it—you could put your thumb through—separate the family from the animal," Sowls said.

The federal official said the Schlegels told him they paid $5 weekly for their quarters.

HOUSE TOLD FARMERS WANT LABOR CURBS

WASHINGTON, March 1 — President Edward A. O'Neal of the American Farm Bureau federation told the house labor committee Friday that farmers want new labor laws, and was assured by one member that the house will vote for them.

Rep. Gwinn (R-NY), who made that forecast, added that labor legislation faces difficulties in the senate "because senators represent the big cities and that makes them more skittish about these bold laws for freedom."

"Many members of this committee," Gwinn told O'Neal, "are from rural areas. They are imbued with rural ideal of freedom. Labor legislation will not have much trouble in the house."

He suggested to O'Neal that farmers write more letters to senators and tell them what is right."

"The farmers can't march on Washington," the New Yorker said, "but the CIO marches a group through the halls of congress nearly every day."

O'Neal remarked that maybe the farmers might come to Washington, "with a few cans of pork and beans."

The farm organization head endorsed, among other proposed new labor laws, one to outlaw the "closed shop" — a term applied when a union wins agreement that an employer will hire only union men.

To another congressional committee, the president of an independent union proposed new laws to restrict industry-wide bargaining, outlaw jurisdictional strikes and compel a 30-day cooling off period for mediation before walkouts or lockouts.

"Feed the Birds" Is Plea As Winter Threatens Lives

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Beatty, whose home at 202 South Vine street has long been a mecca for birds throughout the years, and especially in the winter time, today are reminding folks that unless we humans come to the birds' aid, many will go hungry and probably die for lack of food.

The ground has been frozen and covered for the most part with snow for many days, the bushes have been picked clean of berries and it is only to their human friends they can turn for help, they point out.

Bread crumbs, scratch feed, whole ears of corn, (red birds go for the corn in a big way) and suet are among the foods that will bring these feathered friends to your door. A real treat, those who make feeding the birds a part of thier daily schedule say, is toasted bread, raisins, peanut butter or nuts. A regular feeding time is important, nature students say.

Another thing not to be overlooked is drinking water, as all available drinking spots are either frozen or dried up at this time of the year

Just about the most unkind thing that can be done to these birds, however, is to feed them two or three times, get them accustomed to coming to your door, and then forget them

POULTRY CONTEST OPEN TO OHIOANS

Marion County Entries Sought for Competition.

Four-H club members, Future Farmers and poultrymen in Marion county are eligible to compete in a Chicken-of-Tomorrow contest held in Ohio during April, according to Arthur H. Smith, Marion county agricultural agent.

The chicks will be hatched during the week of April 13 to 19 inclusive. At the end of a 14-week growing period the birds will be dressed and judged.

The Chicken-of-Tomorrow contest runs for three years with the finals to be held in 1948 when $7,000 in cash awards will go to the winners.

The contest, designed to improve the market qualities and growing efficiency of poultry began last year when T. S. Townsley of Wilmington, won the Ohio award.

This year the top five entries in the Ohio contest will compete in the ten state North Central regional show at Indianapolis on Sept. 2.

Details of the contest, Mr. Smith said, may be secured by writing the secretary of the Ohio Poultry Council, C. M. Ferguson, Ohio State university, Columbus.

CRAWFORD CO. SOIL REPORT IS ISSUED

District Maps 14,000 Acres for Conservation.

Approximately 14,000 acres in Crawford county were soil mapped last year under the Divide Soil Conservation district's program, according to the district's second annual report.

The Divide Soil Conservation district consists of all land in Crawford county except incorporated towns and villages and includes 1,871 farms totaling 237,991 acres.

The report shows the district's supervisors considered 170 applications for conservation assistance during 1946. Seven local groups, representing 98 farms, attended conservation meetings and 70 farm plans, comprising 7,200 acres, were established.

Five hundred soil tests were made, practically all of them showing low available phosphate and potash, as well as indicating low active calcium content.

The report further indicates that many Crawford county farms are short of water for livestock. Four farm ponds have been constructed to date and others are planned. These pond areas are to be planted with wildlife, food and cover shrubs and the ponds stocked with fish.

"13 Rue Madeleine" Is Adventure Picture of Counter-Espionage.

James Cagney is starred in the thrilling story of drama and adventure, "13 Rue Madeleine," which is now playing through Thursday at the Ohio theater. Featured with Cagney are Annabella, Richard Conte and Frank Latimore.

The story in the film tells of a secret intelligence operation by a special branch of the Allied High Command, and is said to be one of the most exciting episodes of espionage and counterespionage ever filmed. James Cagney portrays a counterespionage instructor who is thrown into an exciting adventure when a "leak" develops in his own department.

"Nora Prentiss," co-starring Ann Sheridan, Kent Smith and Bruce Bennett, is the film scheduled to open Friday to run for seven days. The picture, an intensely dramatic love story, tells the strange tale of Nora Prentiss, a girl who gives up everything for her love, a love which eventually involves her in a series of unusual and frightening situations.

Based on an original story, the picture presents Ann Sheridan in the title role, as a singer in a San Francisco night club. She is cynical about life and men, having been knocked about a lot in her lifetime, until she meets Dr. Richard Talbot, played by Kent Smith. Dr. Talbot is married to a demanding and nagging wife, Lucy, played by Rosemary DeCamp, and has two children.

When his wife and children go away for a weekend, Talbott visits Nora, who is a patient of his, at the night club where she sings, and soon finds himself attracted to her, and she to him. After a number of secret meetings, Nora realizes that it would be impossible for them to be happy, and so she accepts a singing job at a New York night club, thus leaving town. However Dr. Talbot thinks up a scheme which enables him to change his identity and accompany Nora to New York.

Featured in the cast of supporting players are Robert Alda, Rosemary DeCamp, John Ridgely and Robert Arthur.

"California," the spectacular technicolor production which stars Ray Milland, Barbara Stanwyck and Barry Fitzgerald, is now playing through Wednesday at the Palace theater. Featured in the supporting cast are George Coulouris, Albert Dekker, Anthony Quinn, Frank Faylen and Gavin Muir.

A story of adventure and romance, it is set against a thrilling background of the reckless days when the state of California was born, and tells of the romance of an adventurer and a lady of the gambling halls.

Ray Milland as Jonathan Trumbo, a two-fisted soldier of fortune, has been hired by a pioneer played by Barry Fitzgerald, to guide a wagon train to California. After joining the caravan, he objects to the presence in the train of what he considers the disturbing influence of Lily Bishop, played by Barbara Stanwyck. Lily has just been run out of town by the "good" women, and the kindly pioneer agrees to take her along to California.

Also to be shown with the featured billing is a musical comedy, "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi." Phil Regan, Elyse Knox, Phil Brito and Ross Hunter are co-starred in the picture of collegiate life which features the rhythms of Frankie Carle and his orchestra and the Slim Gaillard Trio.

Elyse Knox in the title role has her eye on Ross Hunter, star of the Rawley university crew. However, her flirtations merely irritate him until she finally lands him for a date by making him jump into the water to save her after he has accidentally pushed her in following an argument.

The latest news also will be shown with the double feature.

Billed as a double feature for Thursday through Saturday is "The Mighty McGurk" starring Wallace Beery and Dean Stockwell, and "The Thirteenth Hour" with Richard Dix and Karen Morley. The latest news also will be shown.

ST. MARY WINS; CALEDONIA, PLEASANT LOSE TOURNEY TILTS

Irish Only Marion County Team Left in Cage Tourney

Takes On Newark St. Francis Tonight, Mt. Gilead—If Both Can Survive.

By GEORGE ROEST

St. Mary eagers racked up a 62 to 47 victory over a game but outclassed Monroe quintet at Westerville last night, thus becoming the lone Marion club still remaining in the B tournament.

Caledonia's high scoring county champions hit a snag, dropping their tilt to potent Newark St. Francis 44 to 38 and Pleasant was knocked out by Columbus Rosary 57 to 40.

In other games Mt. Gilead set York down 55 to 39 and Ostrander outgunned Fredericktown 36 to 27. These were the first tournament starts for all the clubs involved. The spectator turnout was estimated at 3,000.

Irish Meet St. Francis

Tonight at 9 St. Mary will play its second tournament game against St. Francis. Other games scheduled in their bracket are Perry Township vs. Rosary at 7 and Mt. Gilead vs. Ostrander at 8.

The Irish victory was not a hard one to achieve as, after the first few minutes which were nip and tuck, they went into the lead having things pretty much their own way for the rest of the game.

All individual tournament performances were overshadowed by Monroe forward Hix who connected unerringly 13 times from the field and once from the foul line for top scoring honors of the meet.

Schuler, Stuber Show Class

St. Mary performers Schuler and Stuber gave a classy show in the meet but the win could not have been achieved without the strong support given them by the other starters—Baldauf, Bray and Drake.

Drake. St. Mary seconds finished the game.

Caledonia, after winning 10 out of 20 games in seasonal and county tournament play, met its master in St. Francis. The game was one of the tightest of the evening as Caledonia stepped to an early 6 to 2 lead but then was overtaken and trailed at the end of the first and second quarters.

In the third they gave their best performance, closing the gap and taking over a 24 to 23 lead with 7 minutes gone. It was basket for basket for the remainder of the period and Robertson dropped one through in the closing seconds to send Donia into a 28 to 27 lead.

Newark Regains Upper Hand

In the last Newark regained the upper hand to K.O. the county champ.

Pleasant started out giving the Columbus Parochials a hard time as both teams vied for the lead. Then at 15-all, Rosary started to pull away leading 19 to 15 at the first break.

A clever clicking combination of Pusateri to Farsons started paying off and as Stumph and Murphy contributed 24 points between them the Townshippers hopes were blasted. Farsons' under-the-basket work was brilliant as he poured 23 points into the nets.

Green, regular Pleasant guard, was hit by illness prior to this game and Merchant, a capable reserve, was, for like reason, not on hand.

Mt. Gilead showed tournament form as they poured it on to down York, their Union county opponent.

Mt. Gilead and St. Mary will meet in the tournament next Wednesday provided they get past today's opponents.

It's Armed Against Field In Today's Santa Anita Race

By The Associated Press

ARCADIA, Calif., March 1—It was Warren Wright's Armed against the field today in the 10th running of the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap.

The golden gelding, seeking to vault into second place in the all-time money-winning standings headed postward a 6-5 and perhaps even-money favorite. With no rain and a fast track predicted, at least 20 of 22 horses entered were expected to start in the mile and one-quarter gallop. Post time was set at 8:03.

A crowd rivalling last year's 80,200 handicap throng was anticipated.

Without a standout contender in the race, the second choice of the wagering public was likely to be a probably 11-horse mutuel field including such campaigners as Fred Astaire's Triplicate, winner of the $100,000 Hollywood gold cup last year; Plover, Witch Sir and Adrogue.

Recalling that the 1946 handicap was won by a field horse, War Knight, $15.30, the crowd was expected to send this year's "team" off at about 7-2.

W. D. Rorex' Texas Sandman was quoted s a 5-1 shot with a good outside chance of hitting the winner's circle on his third shot at the big pot.

Other potential upsetters and their probable odds included C. T. Clifford's See-Tee-See, 8-1; Stuart Hamblen's El Lobo, 10-1; W. G. McCarty's Artillery, 8-1; and Circle B ranch's "Stitch Again, 12-1.

In one of the closest of the evening, Smith's Clothing proved that the victory they gained over McMillen in the second round was no fluke as they edged the Feed boys 38 to 25 in the last quarter.

The other extreme was the Green Camp K. of P. against Martel Independent. The Campers, AA league champ, showed no mercy as they racked up a 113 to 36 victory.

Stone's Grill met unexpected resistance in the Marion Challengers but held the all-Negro five off to win 55 to 46.

Guy's Hardware lowered the boom on Morral Supply in the second quarter to win going away 51 to 35.

The first round continues tonight with Fairfield slated to meet Green Camp and Houpt Memorial playing Claridon Ex-Hi in games at 8. In the evening's 9 o'clock matches, Carroll's jousts with the Junior Chamber and Smith's engage Martel Elevator.

"Playboy" Black To Get Chance with Cleveland

By The Associated Press

TUCSON, Ariz., March 1—A handsome right-handed hurler, who earned a reputation for a lively fast ball and even more lively social habits during a previous stay in the major leagues, hopes to hit the comeback trail with the Cleveland Indians this year.

Don Black, erstwhile "problem child" with the Philadelphia Athletics and the Indians, received the assurance of the Tribe management today that he would be given plenty of opportunity to become one of the American league's front line hurlers—if he obeys training rules.

BUCYRUS DRIVER FINED

GALION — Alfred Rose of near Bucyrus was fined $25 and costs and given a 30-day jail sentence when tried in Mayor William Amann's court Friday afternoon on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident. Gilead, at Harding Way East and the Big Four railroad, at 7:25 p. m Thursday.

Gus Lesnevich Wins Title Light-Heavyweight Tussle

Whips Billy Fox by Knockout To Become Hottest Fighter in New York Area.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 1—Gus Lesnevich, who has always been just a "good" fighter to the fans but never one to raise their blood pressure woke up today to discover he not only still has his light-heavyweight championship, but is the hottest thing around these parts since the invention of steam heat.

It wasn't only that old Gus tossed the betting odds and the ugly rumors of a title "deal" right out the window by stopping young Billy Fox with the big right hand in the tenth round of their title bout before an "SRO" turnout of 18,318 customers in Madison Square Garden last night, although even his closest friends didn't think he could do it.

It was how he did it—fighting a smart, heady fight, and weathering a storm that had him hearing the birdies at one point. And finally, taking on a strong free-wheeling Philadelphia youngster with the greatest knockout record in history—43 straight and caving in the roof in on him.

There was no doubt, when this one was over that Lesnevich—32 years old, veteran of a dozen years of the wallop wars, and just a good game guy up to now—really had the customers roaring for him as he's never had them before.

Except for the third — when Billy set off his only explosion and all but flattened the champ —and the fourth, when Gus was still recovering from the fireworks, Fox didn't take a round. Lesnevich fought a fight from start to finish as though he'd written the book, moving to Billy's left out of reach of the right-hand artillery, digging both hands to the body, snapping the challenger's chin back with jabs and mixing him up with right-hand rockets.

From the sixth on Gus took charge. In the tenth, he put over a right hand that the folks 10 rows back must have felt. Although Billy got up at "eight," he was helpless and referee Johnny Byrne called it a night.

Undefeated Teams Still Going Strong in Tourney Play

By The Associated Press

These undefeated high school basketball teams can't go on like this forever, that's a cinch, because the pressure is greater every day and there's no telling when some upstart will come along and land a haymaker.

But right now there are still five unbeaten clubs wreaking havoc during the preliminary tournaments leading to the state championships at Columbus starting March 20.

Four of the five saw action Friday night and came through with colors flying. Bryan, one of the two teams in Class A with perfect records, had the narrowest squeak of them all Friday night when it barely made it past Montpelier 46 to 44 at Defiance. That was Bryan's 17th win.

Upper Arlington took No. 19, spilling Delaware Willis out of the central district affair 64 to 36.

Frazeysburg, a team of small boys from Muskingum county, racked up No. 27 by running roughshod over Zanesville St. Nicholas, 60 to 33, in the B tournament at Zanesville. Dick Ellis of St. Nick flipped in 11 points in the first eight minutes and his team trailed 13 to 11, but Frazeysburg stepped out and won going away.

West Union, Adams county's hope in the playoffs, turned in win No. 22 when it swept over Lynchburg 79 to 40. West Union doesn't play again till next Thursday when it meets Kitts Hill of Lawrence county with an 18-3 record. Frazeysburg plays Saturday, meeting Zanesville St. Thomas.

The other undefeated team is Bettsville of Seneca county which is riding a 24-game winning streak. Two unbeaten teams which fell out of the tournaments during the past week were New Holland of Pickaway county and Belmont of Belmont county.

Caledonia of Marion county, which carried a 21-1 record, was dropped out of the Central district play when it lost a 44 to 38 decision to Newark St. Francis which now has a 24-2 record.

Yorkville, the B champ in 1943, beat Cadiz 59 to 46 and moved to the district tournament at Dennison, along with Aedna, last year's champ which was disposing of Sumerton 84 to 46. Yorkville has dropped only one game this season.

Gibsonburg came from behind to eliminate McGuffey, 45 to 41, to win the tourney at Bascom. Shull tossed in 23 points for Gibsonburg, giving him 618 for 25 games. Another high scoring performance resulted at Dayton when Lee Bohlender led his Phillipsburg team to a 59 to 36 victory over Martinsville.

In top A games, Cincinnati Elder raised its record to 14-4 by defeating Cincinnati Withrow 43 to 22. At Athens, Portsmouth squeezed through with a 49-48 win over Logan as Marietta was running wild to down New Lexington 80 to 22.

Hamilton Public's 28 to 27 win over Piqua was at Dayton; Toledo's Woodward, Waite and Macomber all scored in the 40s as they beat Scott, Clay and Whitmer. Zanesville beat out one of its Central Ohio league members when Coshocton lost 41 to 38. At Sandusky, Bellevue, champs two years ago, won a close one from Shelby, 49 to 47. Toronto took Mingo Junction 59 to 50 and East Liverpool walloped Wellsville 77 to 33.

IT'S MONEY THAT DOES IT

Brown Says He'd Rather Coach High School If Pay Matched.

By The Associated Press

OXFORD, O., March 1—If the pay were comparable, Paul Brown coach of the Cleveland Browns, would prefer coaching high school football to working with professionals, he told a Miami university gridiron banquet audience last night.

Brown said instructing schoolboy athletes was "by far the most enjoyable" and recalled the 6-0 victory of his Massillon Tigers in 1935 over Canton McKinley as "the most thrilling victory" of his high school coaching career.

Youth Held in Kenton On Auto Theft Charge

A 19-year-old Marion youth is being held in Hardin county jail today after he admitted to state patrolmen that he stole an automobile in Kenton last Thursday night, patrolmen reported.

The car belonged to the Rhoades Motor Sales of Kenton and was abandoned on route 30-S east of Island. The youth also admitted being AWOL from the Army since Jan. 29, and he will be arraigned until authorities check with the Army, patrolmen said.

14 FLIERS RESCUED IN ALASKAN CRASH

By The Associated Press

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, March 1 —Fourteen Army Air Forces fliers who parachuted from their flaming B-29 superfortress Friday to safety on the Aleutian peninsula were being cared for today at three different locations after their rescue by two amphibian planes which saw the big bomber go down.

The superfortress was the third of its type lost by the Alaskan Air Command in a week.

The big craft, commanded by Lt. B. M. Johnson, of Mason City, Ia., was flying northeast of Naknek when an engine caught fire and the men were ordered to bail out, the command's headquarters at Elmendorf field near here announced.

It was engaged in a search mission for another B-29 with 13 aboard, missing in the Mount Katmai region since Monday.

Two amphibian planes, flying over the area where the lost bumber vanished saw the fliers parachuting from their stricken ship which crashed at 2 p. m. (7 p. m. EST).

Former Marion Couple's Son Receives Citation

The son of a former Marion couple has received a permanent citation for a gold star in lieu of a second Air Medal from the Navy, it has been announced.

He is Lt. William L. Poland of Cincinnati, a Navy flier during the war. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond L. Poland. He earned the award leading a four-lane flight on a mission against Japanese in the Nansei Shoto Island and Formosa area, during which 21 parked hostile aircraft were damaged, two small coastal vessels sunk, and he shot down an enemy reconnaissance plane.

Mr. and Mrs. Poland lived at 802 Bexley avenue here until about a year ago. Mr. Poland was employed at the Fahey bank. They now live in Cincinnati.

30 Ohioans on List Nazis Say Belong to Party

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 1 —Thirty Ohioans were placed on a list of Nazi party members in the United States made public by the senate military subcommittee.

The war department, which supplied the names, emphasized that original records "were made by the Germans and not by the army * * * and that the war department cannot vouch for their accuracy."

A previous list was made public nearly a year ago.

Among the 30 Ohioans listed on the "Nazi party list" in the United States, released by the army today, is Richard Drescher, pastry cook of Mansfield.

AIRLINE OFFICIAL ON PROGRAM HERE

Discusses Prospects for Plane Service in Marion.

Robert Robeson, a representative of the United Airlines Inc., told members of the Chamber of Commerce aviation committee yesterday noon in Hotel Harding that he believed it would be several months before any decision would be announced from the Civil Aeronautics board in Washington on extended air service for Marion.

He said Marion's request for air service now is being considered by the board, along with requests of many other cities throughout the country. Marion has asked for the board's approval of a petition by United Airlines Inc. for an air line between Chicago, Akron and points east from Marion as an intermediate stop. Marion also requests board approval of petitions by Eastern Airlines Inc. for a line between Cleveland and Louisville, Ky., and by the Trans-Ohio Airlines Inc. for a line between Toledo and Huntington, W. Va. Marion would be a stopover on each line.

E. O. Uncapher, Marion safety-service director, told committee members plans were progressing for the employment of an engineering firm to draw up plans for the proposed city airport in the Scioto Ordnance Plant area.

J. B. Bray, chairman of the committee, was in charge of the program.

FIRST MARCH STOCK MARKET LAMB-LIKE

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 1 — The stock market today began the new month with an exceptionally lamb-like demeanor and most leaders were inclined to drift slightly lower.

Dealings from the state were among the slowest of the past year. Transfers for the two hours dwindled to about 300,000 shares.

In the resistant area were Norfolk and Western, N. Y. Central, Union Carbide, Youngstown Sheet, Goodrich, U. S. Gypsum, Sears Roebuck and Union Carbide.

Backward were General Motors, Chrysler, Southern Pacific, American Telephone, Montgomery Ward, Western Union "A", North American, Phelps Dodge, Anaconda, Kennecott, American Smelting and J. C. Penney. Numerous pivotals were unchanged.

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

I SHOT an uneasy glance at the bathroom door—I could not risk Mary's hearing the thing which Olga had said she must tell me—but, to my relief, it was tightly closed, and I turned back to Olga, knowing that I need give her no caution about speaking softly. She always does the right thing at the right time.

"This morning," she began, muting her lovely voice almost to a whisper, "the head of the Arizona sanitarium where Mary has been, called Philip, and told him that Mary left the sanatarium yesterday, after a painful scene, in which she scored all the physicians from the head down to the youngest interne."

Anxious Expression

Our glances met, and I was glad to see that the anxious expression in her eyes was tempered with a flash of amusement kindred to that which I knew was mirrored in my own. Even tragedy, with Mary, generally gives her auditors a nuance of tempestuous hilarity.

"The physician said," Olga went on, "that they did not telephone before because they were under the impression that she had taken a train, and that they would have plenty of time to consult on her case before calling us.

"Then they found out this morning that she had secured passage on a plane, although they appeared to be much amazed that she should have been able to get one on such short notice."

"Trust Mary," I said with a smile. Then the smile faded.

"Do you think she could have been planning this for some time?" I asked, but Olga shook her head.

"If she had stopped long enough in her mental processes to make a plan," she said, "her conscience would have begun to trouble her, and she never would have let Phil down in this way. He is very much upset."

Turned Upside Down

Something in her tone made me feel as if I also had been turned upside down. I knew Philip Veritzen's capabilities for "royal rages" even better than Olga did, for I think his adoration of her makes him hide his "cloven hoof" from her sight as much as possible. But I knew that Mary, by her flight from the sanitarium without consulting him, must have grievously wounded not only his ego—he loves to be the supreme "god of the machine"—but his sense of justice as well, and I quaked inwardly at the punishment he might be planning for the daughter-in-law who had flouted so signally the royal munificence with which he had cared for her in her long illness.

I knew, only too well, that Philip Veritzen was the one person who could—not exactly ruin Mary's theatrical career—but, to use a favorite expression of Dicky's, could "throw a big monkey wrench into the machinery."

Refuse Her Place

If he should refuse her the place she had held as the brightest star in the Veritzen organization, other producers would wonder if she were unable to "come back" after her long illness. She would have an uphill climb, instead of flying serenely back to her place in the topmost rank of feminine theatrical figures.

Another disquieting thought gripped my throat muscles as if it were a throttling hand. Mary knew Philip Veritzen's power and his capabilities for revengeful rages as well as I did. I could not believe that mere boredom at a long and tiresome routine which was bringing her back to complete physical health would have caused her to risk his anger by leaving the sanitarium so precipitately. There must be something else spurring her to such action, a hidden, secret something which she was determined to keep to herself.

Intent Watchful Look

I was suddenly conscious of Olga's intent watchful look at me. Was I betraying my anxiety so plainly? Her next words gave me no doubt of the answer to that question.

"Is it possible" she asked, "that you already know the answer to this riddle, and it is troubling you sorely?"

"I wish I did," I told her. "But I am completely in the dark. It does not seem possible that she would brave Philip's—displeasure—if she were in her right mind."

She looked at me with saddened eyes.

"You mean Philip's revengeful wrath, do you not?" she asked.
